

WHOLE NO. 9

There is but one person figuring under the differently spelled names of Zieg, Seigle, Zeigel, and so on, and that is Hermann Siegel.

THE TIMES.

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Saturday September 11, 1864.

Rules without Exceptions.

1st. All who are now indebted to the office will be demanded every month until they pay up—hard customers semi-monthly.

2nd. No name will be entered on our books for subscription unless we first received the money or its equivalent.

3rd. No job will be delivered until paid for.

4th. Legal blanks cash on delivery.

5th. Transient advertisements must be paid for in advance; six and twelve months advertisements, on first of January and July. Persons from a distance can enclose any amount over a dollar they desire to invest in this way and we will be governed by our terms in another column.

New Maps.

The "Map of the Confederate States of America," and "Map of the Seat of War in Eastern Virginia," published by A. Morris, Richmond, Va., have been received. They are gotten up in a cheap style and can be purchased by any one, and should be universally circulated.

John W. Thomas.

This gentleman has brought down the righteous indignation of the whole State upon him, for the manner in which he has tried to make a speculation of this war. He visited New York a few weeks since and returned with a large amount of Northern accounts against Southern men and has been trying to collect them.—The Senate of this State took the gentleman to task, as a member of that body, and we learn acquitted him. He has, at least, ruined himself in this State, if he is not guilty of a penal offence.

Deaths in the Ranks.

We learn from a letter in the Patriot, from Capt. Scott, that the Guilford Dixie Boys have lost 8 of their number since on the field. The letter says we have lost:

Private John W. Hart, private George W. B. Coble, private Peter R. Clapp, private Thomas J. Gant, Serg. Isaac W. Gossett, Serg. Henry M. Clapp, and private James M. Lambeth. They all died of typhoid fever, some of the cases were a complication of diseases. They all bore their sickness, far from home and in camp life as well, patiently and with soldierly fortitude.

SOME IN A BEAR FIGHT.—The Asheville News says that a fellow named Wiggins, up in Yancey county, was expressing his sympathy for Lincoln, and venting his treason in abuse of the Southern Confederacy, when a Mrs. Melly knocked him down with a chair, and pummeled him well, and would probably have pounded his life out of him, had not some one interfered. The News thinks that a company of such women would whip all the Tories in the South.

STATE OF TRADE IN FRANCE.—The troubles in the United States have injuriously affected the trade of France more than that of England, as the demand for a great many articles of luxury formerly supplied to the United States has been greatly reduced. The French circulars all state the trade is dull throughout the country. There is no demand except for articles wanted for immediate use, and there is consequently much uneasiness prevailing among the manufacturing population.

The New York Times, states the Bulletin, publishes a list of peace papers received at that office in one day, as follows:

In the State of New York, 20; New Jersey, 4; Pennsylvania, 8; Connecticut, 4; Iowa, 4; New Hampshire, 3; Wisconsin, 1; Maine, 2; Ohio, 1; Minnesota, 1; Rhode Island, 1; Illinois, 4; Indiana, 2; Vermont, 1; California, 1. Total, 57. It knows of many more not named in the above.

The Arrest of the Supposed Agent of the Confederate States at New York.

Mr. T. S. Serrell, of New Orleans, of whose arrest at New York on the charge of treason, being suspected of being an agent of the Confederate States, notice has already been made, is a man of about fifty or fifty-five years of age. He was born near Darby, Delaware county, Pa., and for a number of years was in business as a cotton-broker in Philadelphia. He purchased the great Southern staple for a number of prominent firms in that city, but several years ago he removed to New Orleans, where he married and continued in the cotton broking business. He came over from Liverpool in the steamship Persia, and during the trip frequently alleged that he had negotiated a loan in Europe for the Confederate States, and was quite violent in expressing his secession sentiments, so much so that several of his fellow-passengers became offended, and on reaching New York reported his case to the Government officials, who had him arrested. The New York Times says:

His person was carefully searched, and resulted in finding £10,000 in Bank of England notes, together with a large number of letters and important papers, the contents of which—whatever may be their legal value as evidence—leave no doubt that the accused party is a partisan of Jeff. Davis, and an agent of the Southern Confederacy. Surveyor Andrews communicated the facts to Secretary Chase, at that time stopping in the city, who approved of the proceedings, and advised the arrest of Serrell.

The money, $200,000 in amount, with the letters and papers, were detained at the surveyor's office, and an informal investigation was made into the case. Among other matters embraced in the letters in his possession, were the suggestion of plans for breaking up the blockade and supplying the Liverpool market with cotton. From one of the papers, the money, it is believed, is the proceeds of a loan to the Southern "Confederate States." Several passengers voluntarily made affidavits as to the declarations of Serrell while on board the steamer. Mr. S. was committed to the Tombs to await an examination.

The New York Herald says: It appears that Mr. T. S. Serrell, a passenger by the Persia on her last trip from Liverpool to New York, was a quack, and "spoke secession all the time." He stated that he had seen almost every banker in London, and could obtain from them any amount of money that the Confederate States may require. He also said he had £20,000 sterling in his possession for the use of the Southern army. On landing here he was searched by the Custom-house officers, when they found on his person and in his baggage £40,000 in Bank of England notes.

A Voice from Boston.

A Boston correspondent writes to the Baltimore Exchange:

Battles have been fought and lost.—Change has followed change. All these have had their influence here among the Yankees, and no doubt with you. Here, one can talk more freely, and the public will hear more willingly. Many who were honestly voting heart and hand with this administration are now stopping to discuss the whereabouts of the Constitution and constitutional guarantees under "honest Abe." In fine, intelligent men with us are opening their eyes, and a good many roundly swear they hope "Jefferson Davis will take Washington, drive out the Abolitionists and reconstruct the Government." Depend upon it, matters can't go on till Jan. 1st as they have gone with us since May 1, without an outbreak. It may be I am mistaken, but I don't believe I am. Business dull. We are all ruined and sinking deeper every day.

What they Think of our Tactics.

The New York Herald pays us the following very unexpected compliment:

The Confederate States managers have exhibited good judgment in the selection of their commanders. They have some of the best officers that have served under Gen. Scott, and have discarded the idea of political favoritism that governs the action of our Administration, and placed the right man in the right place. The movements of their forces during the late contest were managed with great skill, showing that, if we intend to conquer them, the very best military talent at our command must be employed. They had no Patterson to play the part of Grouchy in their programme but every man, knowing his duty, had the skill to execute it. Our authorities, ever since the uprising of the people, have been devoting their time to devise plans to foist upon our gallant volunteers all the politicians in their power, as if they intended to slaughter them.

We learn that Gov. Bragg, on account of continued ill health, has resigned his place as one of the Aids of Gov. Clark.—Rail Standard.

Who is Responsible?

The Richmond Dispatch says:—

"We are enabled to state on the best authority that the War Department is not responsible for the reverse in North Carolina. The coast defence has been heretofore under the management of a State Military Board, and no requisition has ever been made upon the Ordnance Department that has not been promptly supplied. The people of North Carolina are now, however, thoroughly aroused, and will not wait to investigate the faults of the past."

THE BLOCKADE AT NEW YORK.—The imports at New York from January 1st to August 1st, show a decrease of more than $40,000,000, compared with 1860, and more than $50,000,000 less than in 1859. The exports show a corresponding decrease in some leading articles, but a large increase in the total for the seven months. For the last week the decrease was strongly marked in cotton, as will be seen in the following statement:

Cotton exported for week ending July 15, 1861, 1,569 bales,	$66,535
Cotton exported for week ending July 25, 1861, 165 bales,	11,476

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.—Lincoln's Minister, Corwin, has effected an arrangement by which the United States is allowed to invade the Southern States through Mexico. It is probable that Mexicans will join in the invasion.

GEN. E. KIRBY SMITH.—We learn that this gallant and distinguished officer has recovered from the wound he received at the late battle of Manassas, and will in a few days assume the command of his division on the Potomac.

GEN. BRAGG NOT GOING TO VIRGINIA.

—A friend occupying a high position in the army at Pensacola, writes us under date of the 2d inst.:

"It is not true, as stated in the Charleston Mercury, that Gen. Bragg is going to Virginia. Gen. Anderson has arrived, but as the successor of Gen. Walker, not of Gen. Bragg. We are certain that the latter will not leave his faithful soldiers."—Sav. Rep. Sept. 5.

MARRIED.

On the 12th Aug. 1861, by Rev. A. B. Winfield, Rev. Captain W. C. HARRIS of the Onsetta Conference, and ninth regiment Arkansas Volunteers, to Miss ANNA C. SHELTON, of Drew County, Ark., formerly of Greensboro, N. C.

DIED.

At Manassas Junction, Va., Aug. 22d 1861, of hemorrhage from bowels, with typhoid fever, GEORGE WASHINGTON COBLE, son of Wm. Coble, Esq. He died as he lived: a Christian, he had been for some time a member of the M. P. Church. He was a member of the "Guilford Boys," and suffered in common with them, during their march to and stay at Bull Run. He never contracted the disease of which he died.

Of typhoid fever, on the night of the 25th of August, in the camp near Manassas, Peter B. Clap of the "Guilford Dixie Boys" aged 21 years, 8 months and 19 days.

EDWARD GREEN STERLING died at Elgworth on the 6th inst., in the 21st year of his age. He was a member of the "Guilford Greys" and contracted his disease while on military duty at Fort Mifflin.

A young soldier of his country has left his comrades in arms. His youthful form will no more be seen in the drill and at the post of duty. His kind voice will never sound again at the mess-board, to his place is vacant now. His comrades will never again see his eye kindle with patriotic fire as they talk of their country's wrongs, but they will not soon forget the noble heart which was ever swelling and throbbing with the most generous emotions of friendship. He died not on the field of battle, but in the dim of a night, while the storm of the battle was raging, but he gently sank to rest in the bosom of his home. The loved ones who with joy had watched over the smiling infancy of their "first-born" with a blessed faith closed his dying eyes and gave him back to God. Their counsels and prayers had armed him well with honor, virtue and truth to meet the conflicts of life, and nobly he kept his faith with his friends, his kindred and his country. In his last struggle he had a friend truer and dearer than even can give, and by his aid he "fought a good fight," and "won the crown." With a meek and beautiful faith he entered without fear "the dark valley." To him the last sound and sight of earth were agony and tears, and then his enraptured spirit caught forever the glory and harmony of the bright and better land.

At a meeting of the "Guilford Greys" held at Fort Mifflin, the following resolutions were adopted expressive of the deep regret of the company at the loss of our young friend and companion in arms, JAMES C. DAVIS.

Whereas, Among the unaccountable dispensations of an All-Wise God, one of our gallant volunteers has been called on in the untimely death of our young friend and comrade, JAMES C. DAVIS, therefore,

Resolved, That in him we have lost one whose benevolent disposition, kind heart, and agreeable manners had won for him the highest esteem and deepest affections of all who knew him, and who but a few short days ago was in our midst and was rejoicing with us in the bright hopes of the future.

Resolved, That in his death not only the Greys have lost a member, but the army has been deprived of a soldier of strong arm and brave heart, willing to defend the cause which he had so readily and devotedly espoused, and as the cold hand of the relentless destroyer has closed his eyes, and hushed his voice forever, that we cherish with our sad hearts a fond remembrance of the many noble qualities which ennobled his character and adorned his life.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved and afflicted family of the deceased, and would fain soothe the anguish of their bleeding hearts, but beg to remind them that nothing is more noble than to die in the cause of one's country, and that our loss is but his gain.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and also to the Greensboro papers with the request that they publish the same.

SIGOURNEAN HALL, G. F. COLLEGE,)
September 8th, 1861. }

Death has entered our midst, and taken from us our friend and companion EMMA J. O'LEARY of Newbern, N. C., who in the prime and vigor of youth, with the flush of health upon her cheek, and happiness and contentment beaming upon her countenance, walked among us with confident expectation of spending many years upon earth.

Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recognize the hand of an overruling and Omnipotent Power, who walketh according to his own will.

Resolved, That though it is time honored withal, yet the sound of her voice no more, and her accustomed footsteps no longer be heard, that we cherish her memory, and prepare ourselves better to fulfil the duties of life by imitating the virtues that shine so brightly in her.

Resolved, That the Sigournean Society truly sympathizes with the mourning father and relations of the deceased in their deep affliction, and still share with them the one living hope that he who gave has but taken to himself.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the relations of the deceased, also to the Greensboro Times and Newbern Progress with the request that they be published.

FOR THE DEFENCE OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES.

The undersigned is appointed Agent for the reception of subscriptions, of such portions of the proceeds, as he may deem proper, for the defence of the Confederate States. North Carolina may be aided in the hands of the Confederate States.

These bonds have twenty years to run, and bear eight per cent interest.

Among the advantages to the country from this arrangement may be stated the following:

1st. It offers the best investment in public securities, with 8 per cent of interest.

2nd. It obviates any necessity that may arise for a War Tax.

3rd. It will prove to Europe and the World, not only our determination to resist to the death, but our ability to do so.

The undersigned earnestly requests those to whom he has distributed subscription papers to use every exertion to get them filled, as early as possible, and returned to him at Raleigh, N. C., where he will be glad to receive other subscriptions, and give further information if necessary.

H. K. BARKWY, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Wood Wanted.

We would remind our friends who expect to pay us in wood, that the time has arrived for fires. As we set this article our fingers are so cold we can scarcely feel the little type that now make this appeal to you. If you wish to realize our true condition, take an iron wedge in your left hand, pour oil on the ground, some pins or needles, and with sleeves rolled up, and with needles with point upon your wedge. Continue on for ten long hours—tired—and then let us hear of your experience. Don't wait until a warm day before you try this experiment.

North Carolina Ink.

Ed Denny, Esq., of High Point, N. C., is making an excellent article of writing ink. It is his purpose, if sufficiently encouraged, to do a wholesale business, and supply merchants and other dealers with good ink, on about as fair terms as they have heretofore been supplied from the North. His location is accessible from all parts of the Confederacy, and we hope to receive a liberal patronage. He is a worthy enterprising citizen. We have this ink, and pronounce it equal to any we ever used.

Collectors of the War Tax.

The following appointments of Chief Collectors of the War Tax for the several States have been made by the President:

For Alabama—Joseph C. Bradley.	South Carolina, 36
Arkansas—Wm. H. Halliburton.	Mississippi, 29
Florida—F. E. Blackburn.	Virginia, 19
Georgia—E. Starnes.	Alabama, 17
Louisiana—Robt. A. Lusher.	Georgia, 16
Mississippi—John A. Handy.	Louisiana, 7
North Carolina—Wm. K. Lane.	North Carolina, 4
South Carolina—Wm. E. Martin.	Not located, 4
Tennessee—Isaac B. Williams.
Texas—George J. Durham.	132
Virginia—Henry T. Garnett.

East Tennessee—Brownlow.

The Nashville (Fenn.) papers contain a card from W. G. Brownlow, of the Knoxville Whig, from which we extract the following:

"So far as I am individually concerned, I will not be a party to any mad scheme of rebellion, gotten up at this late day or to any insane attempt to invade this end of the State with Federal troops. And any portion of the Union men of East Tennessee, who may be crazy enough to embark in either enterprise and suffer utter ruin, they are bound to do, shall not, when the times of these calamities be over, reflect on me for having advised such a course."

The opposition to the Confederate Government in East Tennessee, is substantially at an end.

The Paris papers record the death of Gen. Tom Thumb as having occurred, in circumstances of great indignity, at one of the hospitals of that city. Whether this is the celebrated American celebrity of that name is not stated.

The London Times says that enough has transpired to convince him that the subjugation of the South is next to impossible.

Doing of the Legislature.

Among the important bills that met with favorable consideration toward the close of the session are the following:

A bill authorizing the raising of eleven thousand troops to be retained for the defence of North Carolina from invasion. One regiment of which, now being organized at Asheville, to be kept West of the Blue Ridge. The ten remaining ones, to be duly anywhere in the State when ordered.

Under this law, men can agree among themselves to raise a company and elect their officers, and then tender themselves as a company.

The Governor has a right to grant recruiting commissions and accept services of men as individuals—when so received to be assigned as he may direct.

In all cases, under this bill, the field officers are to be elected by the commissioned officers of the regiment, after which they may be transferred to the Confederate Government.

A bill was also passed authorizing the Governor to have constructed 5 propellers and 12 gunboats for the defence of our sounds, and also to raise a Battalion of Marine Artillery, retaining the right to appoint the officers.

A bill also passed appropriating $2,000,000 for coast defence.

A Formidable War Craft.

A correspondent of the Mobile Register, writing from New Orleans, Sept. 10, says:

I went over to Algiers yesterday to see the steamer "Mauvais," commonly called "the turtle" or "the ram," intended to "pitch into" Dr. Lincoln's blockading fleet. The commander of that fleet sent up a challenge a month ago to her "to come along," as he was ready for her. My belief is when she "comes along" the heaviest frigate in that fleet will have to get out of her way or somebody will be hurt. She is a dangerous looking craft—a solid mass of wood covered with railroad iron, and her whole covering arranged in curve lines from which the heaviest shot must glance. She has a nine-inch gun in her bow, and the port hole is closed by a stout-like looking shutter, which, when down, completes the parabolic curve of her conformation. Her engines are powerful, and with only nine inches of steam (she carries 30) made 8 knots in an experimental trip yesterday. If one of Lincoln's ships waits for her, and depends upon her to drive her off, she will sink the ship by driving a hole in her through which her horse might be ridden. If the ship runs, the "turtle's" single gun can play upon and sink her, and be herself (how on) invulnerable to shot. And if the fleet does not dare stand the shooting or the butting, it will have to clear out and the blockade is broken up. Since her trial trip yesterday the "turtle" has risen greatly in the estimation of naval officers. There is danger in her.

DEATHS IN THE ARMY—A correspondent of the Charleston Courier, writing from Culpeper C. H. Va., gives an account of the hospitals there, and a list of all the soldiers buried there up to the 8th inst.—They are from

South Carolina,	36
Mississippi,	29
Virginia,	19
Alabama,	17
Georgia,	16
Louisiana,	7
North Carolina,	4
Not located,	4
	132

The North Carolinians are, J. Baker, Fifth Regiment, died August 2; E. Ledsford, Eleventh Regiment, died August 19; H. Faries, Sixth Regiment, died August 19; M. Brockley, Fifth Regiment, died August 15.

All are buried in the yard, in regular lines, and a careful record of each preserved, so that the bodies may be re-interred at any time. A number of yankees have been buried outside of the enclosure, and a like record kept.

PREVENTIVE OF TYPHOID FEVER.—The Macon (Ga.) Telegraph says that the Medical Faculty of London, several years since, decided that those who live on moccasins as a part of their diet never have the typhoid fever. The experience of a Mississippi plantation, referred to in the same journal, confirms the decision.

"Forward to New Orleans down the Mississippi," is the caption of the most sensational article in the New York Herald of the 9th. Nothing is said now of "Onward to Richmond."

The statement about the shooting of four hundred troops in Washington City, by order of Gen. McTear, for their refusal to advance on the Confederate troops, is believed.

The North Repenting.

We copy the following from a Connecticut paper, the New Haven Register:

"Mind your Business"—The first piece of Continental money coined in this country, bore the terse but simple motto—"Mind your business,"—and if the people of the different sections of this country had followed its advice, the best government devised by man would not be on the verge of destruction. It is not to be denied that we of the North (to say nothing of other sections) have disregarded the wholesome advice on the old copper. It is none of our business that other States of this Union tolerate domestic slavery. It is not our business to rebuke them for it—for we once did the same. It is none of our business, that they regard the institution with favor or disfavor. We are not responsible for it, in a moral or political sense. If it is a mistaken notion, we are not the sufferers; and if we were sensible and discreet, we would "mind our business," and leave it to those who are interested in its existence. It is no hindrance to our prosperity, at least—but meddling with it, has at last brought a tornado upon us, which materially interferes with "our business." We have now got considerably more on our hands than we can attend to—even if it is not too late to "mind our business"—having none to mind. Let us get back to the philosophy of the copper motto as fast as we can. Let a new emission be coined as soon as possible, that every man, woman and child, may have one to wear as a monitor, and a reminder to common sense. Let one be nailed to the desk of every abolition preacher in the land.—Let solemn presentations of them be made to all dyspeptics who mistake indignation for Christian philanthropy, with the hope that they will cease from mischief and "mind their own business."

GOOD NEWS FROM THE INDIANS.—The Memphis Appeal learns from the Fort Smith Times, of the 1st inst., that the Creek Indians have held a grand council of their tribe, which was attended by six hundred delegates, and unanimously ratified the treaty entered into some weeks since by Capt. Albert Pike, on the part of the Confederate States, and the various Indian nations of the frontiers.

It will be remembered that this treaty was entered into by all the Indian tribes, with the exception of the Creeks and Cherokees, the latter of whom have sought to maintain a neutral position, but will in all probability soon come to terms with the South, as the Kansas marauders have recently been harassing them almost beyond endurance. There is no doubt of the fact from all we can learn, that a steady reaction has been progressing among them in our favor for several weeks past. It is stated by some of our Arkansas exchanges that Mr. Ross, their chief, has announced his intention to call a session of the executive council, which will decide upon the question of convening the National Council, with the view of taking some more definite position in the present crisis. The Cherokees, we think, will undoubtedly follow in the footsteps of their contemporary tribes.

NAVAL DEFENCE OF OUR COAST.—Capt. W. F. Lynch, formerly of the U. S. Navy, is said to have been assigned to command the naval defences of North Carolina and Virginia, with 9 steamers ready and others to be added.

OUR PRIVATEERSMEN IN NEW YORK.—The trial of our privateersmen in New York will soon take place. One of their counsel has been sent to Fort Lafayette, and we presume others will share his fate if they do their duty to their clients.

A LARGE HAUL.—The Confederate Government has seized 3000 lbs. of tobacco, worth about $350,000, belonging to Auguste Belmont, the N. Y. banker, and stored in Richmond. It is said that many other large confiscations are made daily.

The report that the Confederate war steamer Sauter was wrecked off the coast of Trinidad, on the 20th August, is contradicted by a subsequent report that she was at New Amsterdam, in Surinam, on the 25th of the same month.

SOUTHERN MONTHLY.—This is the title of a neat periodical of 83 pages, published at Memphis, Tenn., by Messrs. Hutton & Freigh—price $3.

Dr. Thos. H. Wright, President of the Bank of Cape Fear, died at his residence in Wilmington, about noon on Saturday last, 21st inst.

MARRIED.

In Greensboro, on the 23rd inst., by W. E. Edwards, Esq., MILTON FARINGTON to SARAH HOWINGTON.

Also, WILLIAM HARRIS to NANCY McFARLAND, all of this county.

DIED.

In this place, on Wednesday 25th, Mrs. D. BARK, wife of J. W. BARK, deceased, aged about sixty years.

DIABETIC HALL, Sept. 21, 1861.

WHEREAS, The Diabetic Society has with deepest sorrow, received the sad intelligence of the demise of one late friend and fellow member, EDWARD G. STERLING, of Greensboro, who left it but a short time since in the bloom and vigor of health, and endowed those mental and social qualities which fit him for his future eminence, in whatever sphere he moved, but, alas! the cold hand of death was destined to blast forever this cherished prospect, and

Whereas, at the call of his country, he abandoned the comforts and attractions of home, and hastening to assume the duties of a soldier, marched to the post of danger, when he contracted a disease which soon proved fatal.

Resolved, That the Diabetic Society, deeply conscious of her irreparable loss, deploring the death of one who, by his gentlemanly conduct, generous disposition and sincere attachment to the Society, had endeared himself to all who knew him.

Resolved, That we tender our heart-felt sympathies to his bereaved family and friends, and though we would not intrude upon the sadness of domestic grief, yet while shedding a tear at the common altar of sorrow, we point them to that eternal source whence alone can be obtained that balm, which heals the bleeding and sorrow-stricken heart.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, the Raleigh Register and Greensboro Times with a request for publication.

NORTH DEFENCE OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES.—The undersigned is appointed Agent for the reception of subscriptions of such portions of their crops as the patriotic citizens of North Carolina may be able to invest in the hands of the Confederate States.

These bonds have twenty years to run, and bear eight per cent interest, payable semi-annually. Among the advantages to the country from this arrangement may be said the following:

1st. It offers the best investment in public securities, either North or South.

2nd. It obviates any necessity that may arise for a War Tax.

3rd. It will prove to Europe and the World, not only our determination to support the Government of the Confederate States, but our ability to do so, &c. &c.

The undersigned earnestly requests those to whom he has distributed subscription papers to use every exertion to get them filled as soon as possible and returned to him at Raleigh, N. C., where he will be glad to receive other subscriptions and to give further information if necessary. H. K. BURGWIN, Raleigh, North Carolina.

NOTICE.—All persons having accounts with me, with C. L. & A. M. are requested to come and settle the same, as my books must be closed. B. L. C. LE, Mc C. W. W. when or W. H. Farnett is authorized to make settlements in my absence. B. L. C. Jan. 19-21.
